ABSTRACT

This guide, compiled to assist interlibrary loan and reference staffs in finding special holdings of libraries in the state of Washington, is divided into several sections. Institutions responding to the special collections information request are listed alphabetically in one section, with each entry containing institution address and phone number, and a list of its special collections. Special indexes held by the various libraries are listed by subject and their location(s) are indicated. Individual collections are described in more detail in a subject listing, including policies and location. The final section outlines interlibrary loan policies for the University of Washington, Washington State Library, Seattle Public Library, and the Tacoma Public Library. (MBR)

INTRODUCTION

The lists contained in this work are the result of many hours of labor by numbers of individuals throughout the state. Several years ago when the Washington State Library organized a SCAN advisory group, one of the needs determined by the group was a list of holdings of libraries throughout the state which would assist interlibrary loan and reference staffs in finding special holdings of library organizations.

A questionnaire was developed and distributed throughout the state to many types of libraries. Of those libraries known to have specialized materials including special indexes most responded. Those not responding received direct requests.

Later when the first preliminary draft was completed a number of the larger lending agencies were asked for additions and corrections. These were included in the text.

Caroline Gallacci of the Washington State Historical Society indexed the responses by institution and special index held.

Included also are some responses from several libraries in the state which perform much of the interlibrary loan work. It is hoped that as time passes others will wish to contribute, for additions and corrections are welcomed.

2. Requests should be in writing except for identifiable emergencies.

3. Service points are glad to answer some kinds of informational inquiries by telephone. However, no service unit is staffed sufficiently to cope with any great volume of such calls.

4. Because of the dispersed nature of collections and overlapping collection policies on many subjects, the response from a single service unit cannot be regarded as a definitive reply about the University of Washington Library's holdings.

   Any inquiry by telephone or by mail directed to the Interlibrary Loan Center will be assured of campus-wide searching.

1. Attach a slip listing the names that need checking.
2. If book cannot be loaned, the Genealogy Assistant will check the index for your patron and will photocopy a few pages.
3. Photocopy charges are 10¢ a page.

SCAN OR TELEPHONE REQUESTS

1. Do NOT ask for Interlibrary Loans.
2. Ask for the Subject Department, or if the subject of a book is unknown (as with an author or title), ask for the Information Desk (at Main Card Catalog). If the material is listed as being in the collection, find out which department has it and ask to be transferred there.
3. Identify yourself (your library) and ask for material needed.
4. The department will tell you whether material can be loaned or photocopied. This is your notification that the material is being sent. We do NOT send your library further notification.
5. Do NOT send Interlibrary loan forms (unless you need them). SPL uses its own in-house form (SCAN Interlibrary Loan Request), and we expect you to make your own.
6. Ask for INTERLIBRARY LOANS if you want information on a request already placed, a renewal, or clarification of a request from us. INTERLIBRARY LOANS will also "troubleshoot" if there is a problem with any of the above steps.
